

Give a woman
the dignity of opportunity

I am thankful for all of your support! I wouldn't be where I am without it.”

- Christina

Christina lives in a small rural community in Malawi. Trapped in poverty, when her mother died, she became mother and father to her younger siblings. She struggled to go to school and earn enough money to care for her family. She sold doughnuts after school, but the few pennies she made were hardly enough to buy food. She began engaging in transactional sex, like her mother before her.

One night she attended a talk by a local nurse. It opened her eyes! For the first time she saw opportunities for her life.

With encouragement from the local support group and World Renew's partner, Word Alive, Christina is in nurses' training. She has gained opportunity and is able to hold her head high!

Your support transforms lives—not only for young women like Christina, but for her future children and grandchildren.
