FACTS ABOUT REFUGEES IN CANADA

Since the end of World War II, Canada has welcomed more than one and a quarter million refugees. More than 327,000 of these refugees have been privately sponsored.

It is a myth that refugees in Canada receive more than Canadians on social assistance.

Government sponsored refugees receive income through the Resettlement Assistance Program (RAP) during their 12 month sponsorship period, which is roughly equivalent to what Canadians receive on social assistance. Privately sponsored refugees are not eligible to receive RAP or social assistance during their sponsorship year.

Research shows that, with time, refugees have the same levels of economic success as other Canadians, in terms of household income and home ownership.

In 2024, Canada maintained its proud humanitarian tradition of being one of the top three refugee resettlement countries in the world, resettling 49,000 refugees.

CHANGE THE STORY

World Renew believes that refugee sponsorship is a meaningful way for a church or group to live out the words of Matthew 25:35, "I was a stranger and you welcomed me."

You can make a difference. By sponsoring a refugee, you can demonstrate Christ's love in action in the midst of the world's greatest refugee crisis. When strangers become neighbours, cultures are shared, friendships are formed, and communities become stronger.
